Message from the Chief Election Commissioner

on the 4th National Voters' Day (25th January, 2014)

On the 4th National Voters' Day, I congratulate all citizens who are enrolled as voters and especially the newly enrolled voters. I extend my best wishes to those who were enrolled after they became just eligible. The National Voters' day is dedicated to the constitutional right of adult suffrage of the Indian citizen. On this occasion, I invite all those citizens who are not yet enrolled to apply for registration at the earliest because you can exercise your right to vote only if you are enrolled as a voter.

It is also the day when the founding fathers of Indian Constitution gave to their people 'the Election Commission of India', 63 years ago. The Commission is dedicated to the task of delivering free, fair and credible elections to the Indian people. But to make democracy meaningful, there has to be maximum participation of the people in the electoral process.

We are now world's largest electorate family. Our endeavor is to ensure that everyone eligible is enrolled and all those enrolled should vote in the elections voluntarily. Besides, the participation of citizens in elections needs to be informed and ethical for a healthy democracy. The Pledge that we all would be taking on this day is a reaffirmation of our faith in ourselves, our country and democracy.

I once again convey my best wishes to every citizen on the National Voters' Day.

Jai Hind!
